Then Mage would have two Night Horrors books. I don't see that being approved any time soon, particularly when there's still a lot of new Mage 2e material to explore in supplements.

Mage wouldn't be the first gameline with two Night Horrors book, and unlike VtR they'd be spread across editions.

Writer for Bloodlines: The Ageless and Fire & Revolution: Carthians on STV
Some other stuff I've done: Ordo Dracul Mysteries: Mystery of Smoke, Revised Mystery of Živa Mage The Awakening: Spell Quick Reference (single page and landscape for computer screens)

What other line had two Night Horror books?

Vampire had two in first edition, Tessie's 'unlike VtR' was getting at that. Immortal Sinners was full of individual NPCs, with occasional mechanics like Devotions or Merits or Bloodlines they had. The Wicked Dead was in two parts, with Truth displaying various proto- and pseudo-vampires, and Consequences showing things that can be a result of vampire actions, Larvae, Draugr, Dampyr and Strix. Shunned by the Moon isn't likely going to be made anytime soon, but it's been approved of, so that would be the second Werewolf one as well.

Forgot about Wolfsbane. Was forbidden to read it by my ST due to spoilers. As you said that would make Werewolf the second gameline with a Night Horrors book.

If the rumors on the Demon forum are accurate, there might be another one for that line as well.

I feel like Rich misspoke on that one and was referring to Enemy Action. We can try and get that cleared up in the comments of tomorrow's Monday Meeting though.

Probably. That said, I still sent an email to Matt inquiring about it, just in case it was real. I guess I've developed a bit of a taste for writing cryptids.

We're looking at how we can get the Tremere, Mad, and Scelesti rules out, but Dark Eras really isn't the place for it.*

There was a time frame where the Tremere where seen as the good guy fighting against the Reapers Mages. That would be a good Era.

It's exactly the 1001 Nights. by years 750 till 1258 c.e. - cause, as I pointed before, from Left Hand Path...

> '8th century AD: Tremere join Diamond - In Eastern Europe, one or two Tremere demanded hospitality at Diamond wizards' towers. Quickly follow them whole cabals, showing carcasses of monsters they fought to assure good intentions. Tremere were warrior-sorcerers and students of the soul who promised to lead the Awakened to a new age of splendor, built on the ashes of burning enemies. They hunted Seers and Scelesti, but demand selected Reapers and vampires as tribute for the balance of their wrath. They preached that Atlantis's faithful willworkers were the natural lords of souls. Anyone who challenged their crowns deserved to burn. '

> '1099: Banishment of Tremere - Silver Ladder lictor Caterine Bedlam told the Convocation of Antioch what many now suspected: the Tremere was a Legacy of Reapers who hunted their own kind. It labeled them as Nefandi by Convocation, with banishment and 'forgetting' of Tremere Order members – their magical tools were destroyed, as any grimoires, soul stones, or imbued items they created. Their Shadow Name becomes illegal to utter and were replaced in all Consilium records by "Nefandi:" the name that is not a name and cannot be spoken. As other Convocations followed move that of Antioch done, within few decades Tremere were officially excommunicated from Diamond be every European Convocations, becoming target for Reaper hunters they ones been.'
>
> So 1001 Nights Mage expansions should do justice to 3 Diamond Orders by giving them in the splat write-ups: Panscryptias, Keepers of the Word and Tremere Orders.

In 1001 Nights Era time frame we also get 'just in neighborhood' unification of Panscryptias and Keepers of the Word too Mysterium. Byzantine Empire 'is just around the corner' from Baghdad Caliphate at that time.

'12th century AD: Pancryptiates and Keepers of the World Orders merged into one Mysterium in Byzantine Empire under Corpus Author that made hers Ascension from this event. Fall of Empire and Silk Road to Asia propagated unified Order. (Mysterium)'

Only better candidate from 1001 Nights for the 'Tremere in Diamond + Unification of Mysterium' Dark Era would be Byzantine Empire at the exactly the same time period. 😎

Rich said in the MMN comments that it was up to the Dev team when they wanted to ask about expansions and additions, and that he hadn't heard anything about them yet. Sounds like we will have to be patient for a bit longer. Hopefully @The Gentleman Gamer, @Meghan Fitzgerald, or @mlvalentine can pop by and give us a better idea of what to expect.

Developers are planning. We haven't forgotten this book, far from it. We appreciate time to plan, discuss, and set objectives so we know exactly where we're headed.

Are you able to tell us more about the planning process? I'm always interested in glimpses behind the scenes, and I've been curious about whether the stretch goal eras will have their game lines chosen before or after the backers get to choose their expansions, and whether the resurrected and created eras will be available for expanders to choose from as well. I understand completely if that whole process isn't something you wish to share, but I figured that it wouldn't hurt to ask.
